

Phill Hudson

Partner, Hudson Howells

Phill brings wealth of experience to economic and business expansion projects having operated throughout Australia and the Asia Pacific Region for over 25 years. One of Australia's most experienced strategic management advisors, Phill has advised governments, non-government organisations, industry bodies and companies on the intricacies of business development across a diverse range of industry sectors.

Phill has been actively involved in the Australia Indonesia Business Council for over 10 years as Chairman and National Director for three years and Vice Chairman in South Australia for three years. Prior to his involvement with the AIBC, Phill was Chairman of the South Australian – West Java Business Council. The time and service to the AIBC and West Java Business Council has enabled Phill to develop a strong foundation of connections in government and business in both Australia and Asia.

A frequent business traveller to Asia, Phill has built upon his professional connections in Australia and has established a multi-layered professional network in the Asia Pacific Region that covers most industry sectors across many countries. Over the past 25 years, Phill has undertaken projects in most of the major Asian economies, and subsequently has a high level of practical business knowledge of what is required to succeed in diverse cultural environments.

A background in Economics, Accounting and Finance, Phill is well accustomed to providing comprehensive economic, financial and business advice on the feasibility of new business initiatives and business expansion plans. Additionally, through years of project managing major projects in Australia and Asia, Phill is perfectly suited to help organisations project manage new investment and to provide practical strategic advice to ensure business success.
